

Ridgeline Energy Services Inc. ("Ridgeline" or the "Company") (TSXV: RLE) announces that as a result of current market conditions the Company has decided to close its production services division. Mr. Jody Stachiw the past of CEO Ridgeline, who recently moved to the position of Executive Vice President to head up the production services division is no longer with the Company.

Additionally, the Company announces that that Mr. James Thomson a Director of the Company has resigned from the board. Ridgeline thanks both Mr. Stachiw and Mr. Thomson for their service and contributions over the past few years.

Ridgeline Energy Services Inc. was formed to provide environmental and oil and gas production services to the Western Canadian Energy industry. With over a decade of serving the oilpatch, Ridgeline brings experience, professionalism, and precision to the well site and the board room to assist producers in making the right choices for their business.

Ridgeline's environmental services are provided through its wholly-owned subsidiary, Bio-Synergy Resources Inc. ("Bio-Synergy"). Since its inception in November 1999, Bio-Synergy has provided its clients with a wealth of knowledge and experience directed at providing environmental site assessments and economically viable waste management solutions. Commitment to research and development, and client-dedicated teams of project leaders, field technicians, and soil scientists keep Bio-Synergy clients at the forefront of changing or pending regulatory legislation and industry needs in regard to both environmental assessment and treatment options.

For further information please contact Tony Ker, President and Chief Executive Officer, or David Curtis, Chief Financial Officer, of Ridgeline Energy Services Inc. at (403) 291-9181.

"Neither TSX Venture Exchange nor its Regulation Services Provider (as that term is defined in the policies of the TSX Venture Exchange) accepts responsibility for the adequacy or accuracy of this release."